Two Are Not Better Than One

Pacifica's branch libraries operate on one funding stream shared by two buildings. This means:

- Fewer open hours
- Fewer services and programs
- More money spent on duplicate items in the children's, multi-media, and general collections
- Fewer choices for library patrons

Two buildings don't make fiscal sense. Pacifica needs one modern library.

SHARP PARK

The children's area shares space with computers that are used by adults.

FOSTER CITY

The large children's area is clearly set apart from the rest of the library.

FOSTER CITY

There is plenty of room for babies, toddlers, children, and tweens here.

SHARP PARK

Book sales raise money for library programs. This “bookstore” is a set of shelves on a stair landing.

MILLBRAE

In newer libraries, space is set aside for the Friends' bookstores.
